

MOTHERS' MARCH FOR JUSTICE

Two thousand caregivers at Johns Hopkins Hospital are fighting to end poverty pay at Hopkins. Wages are so low many caregivers rely on food stamps and Medicaid.

Poverty pay at Hopkins hurts all of us. That's because the Hopkins Health System is Baltimore's second biggest employer. The low pay at Hopkins lowers standards across the city.

But we can do better. We're holding a Mothers' March and Rally for Justice at Hopkins on Saturday, May 10. By winning better wages at Hopkins, we can win a better Baltimore.

Saturday, May 10, 2014
Noon to 3pm
McKeldin Square Park
(Corner of E. Pratt & Light St., Baltimore MD)

Join Danny Glover, The Wire's Wendell Pierce, and thousands of healthcare workers and allies to take a stand against poverty pay at Hopkins!
